

A large field of sunflowers stretches across the foreground and middle ground, leading towards a distant horizon under a soft, golden sunset sky. The sunflowers are in various stages of bloom, with bright yellow petals and dark brown centers. The background shows rolling hills and a few small lights, possibly from a town or farm buildings. A dark, semi-transparent rectangular box is centered in the upper half of the image, containing white text. The box is decorated with several black, hand-drawn scribbles on its corners. The overall mood is peaceful and serene.
